

Abby Mader

Hometown

Chicago, IL

Recent positions include:

Program Manager, Chaddick Institute

About

Abby is a graduate student in the Sustainable Urban Development Program at DePaul. Her responsibilities at Chaddick include supporting the professional program and conducting research on intercity bus travel and Amazon Air. When she finishes her graduate studies, Abby hopes to embark on a career as a city manager or urban planner.

Notable memory

While there are many to choose from, my favorite would be waiting for the Metra in subzero temperatures during our scholar's weekend outing in February. It was a true test to see who could handle the cold.