About

After graduation, I spent a little over three years working on progressive, grassroots political campaigns organizing and advocating for bold climate action policies at the city, state and federal levels in Arizona. I then returned to Illinois in early 2020 where I joined Metro Strategies, Inc. as a Senior Project Associate working on various transportation planning projects and initiatives throughout Metropolitan Chicago. As of November 2021, I joined Innova EV as their Senior Sustainability Project Manager and am excited to see where this next career chapter takes me. During my free time, I enjoy indulging in Chicago's food scene, practicing yoga and making domestic and international travel plans.

Notable memory

I thoroughly enjoyed attending any events or workshops put on by Chaddick because it provided opportunities to connect with other scholars and professionals.
