Assistant Project Manager, New York Housing Development Corporation

About

Following my graduation from DePaul, I was hired as a project analyst with Full Circle Communities (FCC). FCC is a non-profit organization that develops affordable housing throughout the Chicagoland and Midwest region. Through my experience with FCC, I have learned foundational skills in the affordable housing sector that I have taken with me to NYC Housing Development Corporation (my current employer).

Notable memory

I really enjoyed the trips to Milwaukee. I learned so much about that city, and since visiting with Chaddick, I have been back a few times. Those trips were a great way to apply what I was learning in urban planning to the real world.
