

Kevin Snyder

Hometown

Chicago, IL

Recent positions include:

Associate Director, Foundation and Corporate Relations, University of Chicago

About

I currently work at the University of Chicago, helping faculty across multiple disciplines conceptualize their research and secure funding to support their work. I am fortunate to be able to apply my degree daily as I provide faculty with an outside perspective as they think about and develop their research, all while taking their work and framing it in ways that reach broad audiences. Outside of work, I enjoy hiking through our many national parks and exploring the wonderful food scene Chicago has to offer.

Notable memory

I currently work at the University of Chicago, helping faculty across multiple disciplines conceptualize their research and secure funding to support their work. I am fortunate to be able to apply my degree daily as I provide faculty with an outside perspective as they think about and develop their research, all while taking their work and framing it in ways that reach broad audiences. Outside of work, I enjoy hiking through our many national parks and exploring the wonderful food scene Chicago has to offer.