Hometown

Chicago, IL

Recent positions include:

Specialist, Nature-Based Climate Solutions, Delta Institute

About

After graduating with an MA in Sustainable Urban Development from DePaul University, I have consulted on a variety of urban and environmental projects throughout the country, ranging from a small community master plan in Hyattsville, Maryland, to a one-gigawatt solar farm in northeast Texas. Recently, I moved back to Chicago to help Delta Institute scale up green infrastructure in the Midwest and bring my talents back to the Chicago Theatre 16-inch Softball League.

Notable memory

The best part of being a Chaddick Scholar was being able to attend walking tours of Chicago neighborhoods and longer weekend trips to Midwest cities like Madison, WI, and Grand Rapids, MI. I not only learned about the planning and development efforts taking place in the locations we visited, but also discovered the importance of walking a neighborhood to better understand it.
