Manager of HCV Policy and Accountability, Chicago Housing Authority

About

After I graduated from DePaul, I began working for a Chicago Housing Authority (CHA) contractor, administering the day-to-day operations of the Housing Choice Voucher Program. Subsequently, I joined the CHA, writing policy and procedure for the program where I now serve as the Manager of Policy and Accountability. This entails both developing various policies, implementing them, and analyzing their impact, while also ensuring that the agency is complying with HUD regulations. I enjoy traveling, riding my bike, and eating delicious meals.

Notable memory

I will never forget traveling to the East and West Coasts to gather data for Chaddick's research on transportation and technology. Going from city to city, riding trains, planes, and buses, collecting information on technology use on each of these modes.
