About

Codey enrolled as graduate student at DePaul University under the Sustainable Urban Development program to pursue a career that is more in line with his interests of sustainability and the environment. For leisure, Codey enjoys staying active and learning new things. This comes in the form of going to the gym, playing music, reading, and more.

Notable memory

Codey's favorite memory of being a Chaddick scholar was when he volunteered to present research he had been working on. This is a favorite memory because he is not a fan of public speaking but decided to be courageous and ended up having a fun time.
