

Orlando Solorzano

Hometown: Chicago, IL

Position: Manager, Community Engagement

About

Orlando completed his Master of Arts in Sustainable Urban Development program in August of 2024. He is currently a Manager, Community Engagement at United Way of Metropolitan Chicago. In this role, he oversees coalition building and investments for a portfolio of Chicago communities through the Neighborhood Network initiative. Orlando is passionate about community and economic development in traditionally underserved communities. In his free time, he enjoys biking across Chicago's many neighborhoods.

Notable memory

Orlando's favorite part about being a Chaddick Scholar was connecting with many professionals who lead work in sustainable development and transportation.
