

Matthew Jacques

Hometown

Chicago, Illinois

Recent positions include:

Analyst, Cook County Government

About

In the Office of the Secretary to the Board of Commissioners, Matt serves as a producer for the Cook County Board meetings, committees, hearings and panels, and as a project manager for the Historic Archives and Records Office. He has led the multi-year initiative to find a New Flag for New Century for Cook County, which will be adopted and raised later this year.

Notable memory

At Chaddick, he had the pleasure of serving as program manager, technical editor for volumes 3 & 4 of the Illinois Municipal Policy Journal, and assisted the team through a period of change, helping leadership devise and implement the new Chaddick Institute space, Grand Reopening events and introduction of Chaddick Hall. The vast experiences and rich relationships encountered during his years with Chaddick continue to serve him in ways large and small, in ways apparent and that don't always meet the eye; all fill an abiding font of gratitude that reminds fortune is found wherever one opens a door and invites another inside.