About

While pursuing a Master's in Public Policy degree, I have focused on energy policy, with a special interest in advocating for nuclear power. With experience in government relations and a current role in consulting, I believe that the future of energy and policy, more broadly, can be leveraged to create an abundant and sustainable future. Along with my wife, Victoria, and our dog, Ren, we relocated to Chicago last year and are enjoying the Chicago summer.

Notable Memory

The Third Ward in Milwaukee was such a fun place to visit and see the power of local business leaders coming together to build something wonderful and exciting.
