Love and Life in a Post-Porn World

Wednesday, February 13, 2019 • 7:00 - 9:00 p.m.

DePaul Student Center, 120 • 2250 N. Sheffield Avenue, Chicago

On Valentine's Day Eve, the DHC ushers in a discussion about the end of pornography featuring some of the nation's preeminent scholars working in the field. The evening will be an investigation of the arguments against pornography, an analysis of how patriarchy (and thus misogyny) as well as white supremacy fuel the pornography industry, and an imagining of how love and empathy might prosper in a society without pornography.

With free special Valentine's Day candy for the audience!

Featuring

Rebecca Whisnant, Professor and Chair, Department of Philosophy, University of Dayton, and co-editor of Not for Sale: Feminists Resisting Prostitution and Pornography

Meghan Murphy, Founder and Editor, Feminist Current

Robert Jensen, Professor Emeritus, School of Journalism, University of Texas at Austin, and author of Getting Off: Pornography and the End of Masculinity

This event is free and open to the public. • Discounted parking available. See DHC staff for details. • If you require an ASL interpreter and know you will be attending, please contact the DHC at least two weeks before the event date.
