

re/search

Qualtrics Survey Design Training

Monday, Mar 2, 6-8 p.m.

Registration required

In conjunction with the School of Nursing biostatistics course (NSG 481), the SSRC will present a short workshop introducing participants to the basics Qualtrics survey software while incorporating principles of survey design. Led by Research Specialist Jessica Speer, the workshop will cover:

- Constructing an online survey
- Managing survey data
- Exporting data from Qualtrics to SPSS and Excel formats
- Hands-on practice with the Qualtrics tool

The workshop is open to all DePaul faculty, staff, and students. Attendance is limited by the number of computers available. If there is sufficient interest, additional sessions may be scheduled. Feel free to pass this event on to your students or colleagues who might be interested!

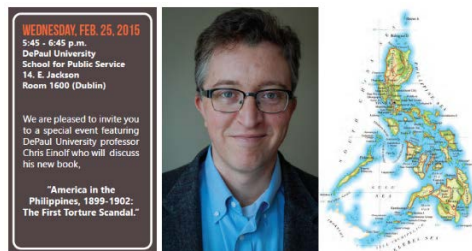

Sign up for the workshop here: <http://www.eventbrite.com/e/workshop-creating-online-surveys-registration-15850421036>

Questions? Email jspeer3@depaul.edu

Coffee & Conversation

Wednesday, Feb 25, 5:45 – 6:45

14 E. Jackson, Room 1600 (Dublin Room)

The School of Public Service (SPS) is pleased to invite you for “Coffee and Conversation” with professor Chris Einolf, who will discuss his new book, America in the Philippines, 1899-1902: The First Torture Scandal. This discussion-oriented event is being hosted by the International Public Service and Leadership & Policy Studies programs. A short reception will follow. See attached flyer for details. RSVP to pubserv@depaul.edu

How I Work: Blog Series

If you haven't been following the new "How I Work" series on our re/search blog, you're missing out! Shamelessly stolen from LifeHacker's series of the same name, our version asks DePaul's heroes, experts, and individuals of note to share their shortcuts, workspaces, routines, and more. So far we've heard from Noam Ostrander (MSW), Greg Scott (SOC/SSRC), Zack Ostrowski (AMD), and Robyn Brown (SOC). It's fascinating to see the variety of tools and tricks people use to stay productive. If you'd like to participate or nominate someone else, email Jessi Bishop-Royse at jbishopr@depaul.edu

Happy Hour

We're still trying to choose dates for our next two happy hours (in March & April). Chime in here: <http://doodle.com/ebhr7i6pm5u4m37w>